

Literacy

Our new topic this half term is Live and Let Live. We will be learning about living and non-living things focusing on animals. The book is called 'One Day On Our Blue Planet – In The Savannah' by Ella Bailey. This half term we will be encouraging the children to become familiar with the story through a range of writing genres including: poetry and persuasive letters

How can you help at home?

- Encourage your children to retell stories you read with them.
- Discuss things around them that are living and non-living and what makes something a living thing
- Read with your children every evening

Writing

Your child should be encouraged to write at every opportunity. It is crucial that your child uses their sounds and the special friends that are taught in Read Write Inc. (RWI).

Numeracy

This half term, the children will be representing numbers within 40 in multiple ways. We will also be practising adding and subtracting 1-digit and 2-digit numbers. We will be using a range of resources such as bead strings, Dienes and number lines. We will also be exploring measure through length, weight and volume. Children will be encouraged to describe, compare, and solve practical problems involving these measures. We will be using non-standard and standard to help us estimate and compare different objects.

How can you help at home?

- Calculation strategies within 20
- Time – telling the time to the hour and half past the hour
